

My Skills

I am highly skilled Fullstack Developer who are comfortable with both front and backend programming. I am responsible for designing and building every feature with a database ensuring the responsiveness of applications, as working in cross functional teams alongside UX/UI designer for user design features, among other skills.

HTML/CSS

These skills to create an interactive, intuitive, and engaging frontend for applications.

Git and GitHub

I track every minor modification done to the application codebase.

Soft Skills

I have an analytical bent of mind, good time management skills and attention to detail with creative vision.

Presentation Tools

I create highly visual presentations to engage viewers and communicate with my peers.

Services

The passion for the technical person provides a part of the full stack developer's job description for the full stack developer's job description.

Technical Writing

When developing a new product, I write technical documentation for the product.

Data Analysis

When developing a new product, I analyze the data to make informed decisions.

Web Development

When developing a new product, I build the web application from scratch.

Responsive Design

When developing a new product, I ensure the application is responsive across all devices.

My Projects

I am highly skilled Fullstack Developer who are comfortable with both front and backend programming. I am responsible for designing and building every feature with a database ensuring the responsiveness of applications, as working in cross functional teams alongside UX/UI designer for user design features, among other skills.

Testimonials

Contact Me

Reach out to me, please fill in the following form

Name

Your name

Email

Your email

Phone number

Your phone number

Subject

Your subject

Submit

